LINIERS

A photograph of a dish served on a light grey, speckled ceramic plate. The dish consists of a piece of bread topped with a dark, charred ingredient, possibly mushrooms or meat, and a generous amount of red tomato salsa. To the right of the bread is a small portion of fresh green and purple leafy salad. The plate is set on a rustic wooden table. In the background, a clear glass filled with a dark amber liquid, likely beer, is visible. The lighting is warm and focused on the plate.
